

True expressions

Adaptation is a collection of paintings pulsating with vibrant colours, by artist Christina Banerjee. The series depicts animals through her travels and the surroundings she interacts with on a daily basis. She wants the audience to take away a sense of humanity from her art; to appreciate the animals illustrated and perhaps instil a thought for what we may be doing to them. A part of the show's sales proceedings will go to Abhayam, an organisation that provides holistic development, rehabilitation and psycho-spiritual development to substance addicts, alcoholics and sex addicts.
