About the Artist – Aarti Gupta Bhadauria

Aarti Gupta Bhadauria is a contemporary Indian sculptor specializing in the creation of sculptures using the terracotta medium. In 2004, she earned her bachelor's degree in Fine Arts with a focus on sculptures from Gwalior, India, laying the foundation for her artistic journey. The essence of her sculptures lies in their rhythmic, abstract nature, reflecting waves of feelings and emotions in diverse forms.

Aarti Gupta Bhadauria's sculptures are distinguished by their rhythmic, organic forms, which invite the viewer to engage with them from multiple perspectives. Using terracotta as her medium, she creates abstract works that seem to defy gravity, achieving a sense of fluidity and movement. Her sculptures are free from the constraints of armature, allowing them to rise and fall with a natural grace that reflects the ethereal qualities of human emotion. The interplay of bends, shadows, and curves in her work creates a dynamic presence, giving each piece a life of its own.

The themes Aarti explores revolve around the intricate wave of human emotions. Each sculpture reveals new images and meanings depending on the viewer's perspective, reflecting the complexity of the emotional experiences she seeks to convey. Aarti's approach to abstraction allows her to express feelings that are not easily articulated in words. Her sculptures do more than simply exist in space—they evoke a sense of movement, mirroring the ever-changing nature of human emotions.

Aarti Gupta Bhadauria's choice of medium is not incidental but deeply intentional. During her early years in college, she experimented with various materials, including stone, but it was terracotta that resonated most with her. For Aarti, working with terracotta feels like a natural extension of herself, as though the material itself is an integral part of her emotional and creative process. Terracotta, one of the five classical elements, holds a rich history that connects Aarti's contemporary artistic expressions to ancient traditions, giving her work both a timeless quality and a modern edge.

By choosing terracotta, Aarti seeks to redefine the traditional associations of the medium, which is often linked to folk art. She views terracotta not only as a vessel for historical continuity but also as a powerful tool for expressing modern emotions. Her goal is to elevate the medium to new heights, using it to communicate contemporary themes and personal experiences. Through her work, she aspires to be recognized as a contemporary voice in the art world, particularly when it comes to terracotta sculpture.

Aarti Gupta Bhadauria's artistic vision extends far beyond her current body of work. She dreams of creating a legacy that not only redefines terracotta as a medium but also places her at the forefront of contemporary sculpture. Her ambition is to spread her unique approach to terracotta across the globe, demonstrating how this ancient material can be used to communicate modern emotions and ideas. In a world where terracotta is often seen as a medium for traditional or folk art, Aarti aims to challenge those preconceptions by pushing the boundaries of what can be achieved with clay.

Why Sublime?

Spurred by her desire to showcase the finest in lifestyle, visionary Ms. Uzma Irfan, Executive Director at the Prestige Group, and Founder of Sublime, UB City, Bangalore, masterminded Sublime House of Tea in 2013. Uzma has a degree in Business Administration from the American Intercontinental University, London, and has been at the forefront of several Prestige Group enterprises that have earned global acclaim and respect. Her keenness in promoting traditionally sound yet innovative ideas is apparent from the Sublime House of Tea. “The idea was to bring different kinds of world tea to an Indian consumer's tea cup”, says Uzma. “Most Indian kitchens are now open to experimenting beyond the traditional masala chai! Our teas are curated from the finest produce in the country & crafted into unique blends that are both flavourful & healthy.”
